You dropped this

You dropped this king. You dropped this crown. You dropped this meaning. You dropped this . You dropped this clown. You dropped this l. You dropped this brain. You dropped this queen.

Photo Courtesy: Rab/Flickr Have you ever wondered how your favorite celebrities spend all those millions of dollars? From private jets to five-star resort holidays, luxury shopping is one of the most common ways for stars to flaunt their wealth in the air and the mainland. But did you know that celebrities such as Leonardi DiCaprio, Nicole Kidman and Keith Urban are obsessed with exhibiting their wealth at sea? Take a look at these superyacht celebrities who will drop your jaw! Actually, Leonardo DiCaprio doesn't own this particular superyacht, but he loves renting the Topaz when it's time to party with his friends. If you had guessed that rent also has a high price, you would have right. The Titanic star pays around € 3.75 million to rent the Topaz for only one week. (Pazzesco, right?) Photo Courtesy: The Revenant/IMDb is not all. If you're a big fan of DiCaprio, you may already know that he organized a $80 party on this superyacht in 2014. Stars like Orlando Bloom and Jamie Foxx were among the famous guests. If you don’t know his story, J.K. Rowling’s life is a real “strack to wealth”, which goes from poverty to rich appearance as the author of the Harry Potter series. In fact, he was a humble secretary before becoming one of the world’s greatest names. Photo Courtesy: John Phillips/Getty Images Today, Rowling is more than rich enough to buy a huge yacht from Johnny Depp. It costs 20 million pounds, the amphithetis is almost 160 feet long and comes with all kinds of fancy features. For example, don't be surprised to see a wine bar, skylight and kayak on board this megayacht. Originally the news reported that the U2 comrade of The Edge Bono owned the Cyans, but The Edge actually snapped that rumor when he joked: "It's mine. Bono knows nothing about boats." Confusion is easy to explain. Since the Cyan was so expensive, The Edge asked a couple of friends to help him buy the boat. Photo Courtesy: Bloomberg/Getty Images Plus, The Edge's friends helped him redesign the yacht. Thanks to the sky for friendship, because the Cyan includes services such as a state-of-the-art bar, a top-notch stereo and a heated hot tub. Let's hope you don't forget to invite your friends! Flash news: Giorgio Armani is much more than a fabulous designer of clothing. In fact, Armani helped design his first customizable yacht. Called the MariÃ1, the multimillionaire has created the ship to comfortably accommodate up to 12 friends or family. It also has its lift to go with those aluminum ceilings, oak panels and pine floors. Photo Courtesy: Felix Magno/Getty Images Armani, painted with an elegant coat of white and gray, sold MariÃ1 for almost 20 millionNow, anyone can rent the boat, as long as they have 185,000 euros for a week’s charter! Giorgio Armani is one of the richest designers in the world, so obviously he needs more than one yacht to show show show his enormous fortune. This is where Armaniâs other superyacht, the MaÂĂ¬n, comes into play. Contributing to the project himself, the billionaire built his houseboat in his Italian style. It doesn’t look too flashy, but it’s actually much more stylish than you could imagine for a houseboat. Photo Courtesy: Lorenzo Bozzi/Wikimedia Commons With a hot tub, cinema and gym, this 150-foot megayacht is as sumptuous as its owner. Featuring 14 rooms, the yachtâs dark green exterior is intended to dampen the extravagance. What a thoughtful thought! If you love Pink Floyd, then you already know that David Gilmour is a true legend. And like any king of rock, he deserves his own superyacht. Called Astoria, the large ship is 27 metres long and has a music studio on board. Photo Courtesy: TPHolland/Flickr Pink Floyd has recorded at least three albums on board Astoria. As if that weren’t enough, he also recorded some of his solo works on History. After seeing the large yacht in a magazine of his dentist’s office, Gilmour immediately bought the 1911 ship. Wild Famous professional tennis star, Rafael Nadal is worth almost $200 million. To be honest, that’s a lot of money for someone who comes from a little-known place called the Balearic Islands. Apparently, that’s where the young athlete discovered his love of sailing. Photo Courtesy: Julian Finney/Getty Images That said, spending $2.5 million on his superyacht, Beethoven, was basically a penny for Nadal. Measuring 24 metres and accommodating eight members of the family, Beethoven can reach an exceptional speed of over 31 knots. If you’re wondering if the handsome tennis player can really navigate, the answer is yes! First of all, rest the billionaire and former Apple CEO Steve Jobs, but you have to admit that Jobs had a great life before he died. Just take a look at his amazing superyacht, Venus, which hasn’t even lived to see it completed. (Don’t worry, the Jobs family still owns the boat.) Photo Courtesy: Anoldent/Flickr Virtually no one has seen the inside of this magnificent houseboat, and no public photos have been shared. However, we know that the ship’s deck uses Apple computers (of course). Steve Jobs hired Philippe Starck to create the boat and failed to pay the designer 3 million dollars! If you remember Jaws' iconic phrase, “You’ll need a bigger boat”, you wouldn’t be surprised to know that director Steven Spielberg took us to heart. The famous manufacturer bought his superyacht, Seven Seas, for $200 million. More than 280 feet long, it boasts a cinema with plenty of seats, a large screen and a projector. Photo Courtesy: John Lambert/Flickr Wait, there’s more! Spielbergâs huge boat has a hot tub and a gym, so you donât jet skis and full-height windows. Despite these luxury advantages, the famous director ended up selling it. Born in the Bronx, New York, Billy Joel is one of the best-selling artists of the world. I'm not surprised he made enough money to buy at least five megayachts. If you're curious to know what's the fastest, that's the Revenge. Photo Courtesy: Kevin Mazur/WireImage/Getty Images Designed to imitate the commuter ships of the 1920s, the Vendetta is the ideal vehicle for the holiday of Piano Man. In addition to being a proud yacht owner, Joel designs his yachts and sold 50 for $500,000 each. You're talking about an infant of all trades! This is a boy's game. When you’re rich as Richard Branson, billionaire philanthropist and businessman, you’d be crazy not to buy an expensive superyacht. Although the founder of the Virgin Group owns an island, he decided to add a £5.3 million boat to his repertoire. Photo Courtesy: Duffy-Marie Arnoult/Getty Images Long more than 100 meters, the Necker Belle is designed to sunbathe and have fun. He has a submarine attached to the ship, also nicknamed the Ninfa Necker. You can't be too angry with Branson for flaunting his huge wealth. In the past he also used his boat to rescue hurricanes. The Hollywood superstar Nicole Kidman and her country crooner, Keith Urban, wisely spent their money on the superyacht Hokulani. The three-storey boat has wakeboards, water skiing, snorkeling equipment and jacuzzi to have fun in the water, as well as luxury objects such as a glass roof and huge TVs. It's really a home away from home. Photo Courtesy: Stephanie Cardinal/Getty Images In addition to being glamorous outside, the 150-foot ship hosts almost 20 people, including staff. For those who scratch their heads, "Hokulani" is actually Nicole's Hawaiian nickname. Although Hokulani is worth only $4.5 million, it is said that the famous duo is worth $195 million. Diddy had a lot of nicknames over the years, including P. Diddy and Puff Daddy. However, nothing has attacked better than “mega-milionary”. That said, the multi-tifenate rapper-become- entrepreneur bought the yacht Oasis as CEO of Google. Photo Courtesy: Stuart Morton/Getty Images This adult paradise has its own private party club at sea. In addition, Oasis has an expensive AquaGlide slide on board. The ship, almost 200 meters long, hosted events for stars of the calibre of Kanye West and Kim Kardashian, not to mention the favorite musical couple of all, BeyoncÃ© and Jay Z. Speaking of Jay and Bey, are not only guests of superyacht, but owners of superyacht. Yeah, when they're not busy making music and turning the world together, Beyonce and Jay-Z love spending time on the $42 million ship, Galactica Star. The pair of billionaires does not own the boat, but rents it from the Nigerian businessman Kola Aluko. Photo Courtesy: Heesenyachts.com Don't do itfrom panic when the Carters spend about $900,000 when they rent the superyacht for a week. It’s just a drop. the bucket for the stars. At least, it has a cinema, hot tub and on-board swimming pool. Known for breaking the rules in both music and fashion, Rihanna breaks the rules even at the yacht club. He recently spent his holiday on the French Riviera sailing on a superyacht called Latitude. About 175 feet long, the gigantic ship has its own sky lounge, beach club and state halls. Photo courtesy: Jacopo Raule/Getty Images If you’re not impressed by all this, maybe this will get your attention. Rihanna pays about $300,000 a week to rent Latitude. She has also been known to have participated on board the ship in the past, renting the latitude after the V Festival in 2011 and on other occasions. Even though Nicolas Cage is a great actor, he still managed to blow through his fortune of 150 million dollars over the course of about 15 years. It seems even crazier when you think about what he spent his hard-earned riches on – think small pigmy heads and dino skulls. Photo courtesy: Franco Origlia/Getty Images Somewhere along the way, Cage managed to acquire four superyachts â a little less ridiculous, at least. Apparently, the Sarita is her favorite, and it’s easy to see why. Sleeping 12 friends and measuring about 130 feet in length, the super ship was a dream come true â at least until Cage had to sell it in 2008. Clearly, Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie knew how to have fun as rock stars during their long relationship. They spent a lot of free time aboard Australian businessman Anthony Bell’s boat, Ghost. At the time it was not uncommon to see the two celebrities and their children sailing around Sydney Harbour. Photo courtesy: Lorenzo Santini/Getty Images The luxury yacht was on sale in the summer of 2019 for almost $9 million. With three rooms that fit two people each, the boat also has its own special cabin and catamaran. And then... Ghost is one of the fastest yachts on this list. First of all, we love the lovely name of Elton John’s superyacht. Lovingly named Wabi Sabi, Elton should have recently sold the boat for about $26 million. Featuring a barbecue pit, luxury furnishings and a flat-screen TV, Wabi Sabi sleeps more than 10 guests every night in tastefully furnished rooms. Photo courtesy: Faith Moran/Wireimage/Getty Images No, we’re not finished yet. The luxury ship has air conditioning, a grill station and a hot tub along with a swimming pool with underwater lighting. Now owned by Moran Yacht & Ship, you can rent it for about $200,000 a week! If you haven’t heard of Tiger Woods, you must live under a rock somewhere. The titan of golf is still on top after a long and difficult stretch full of bad publicity, cheating and injuries. Woods recently won. Green jacket at the East Lake Golf Club, proving to be still the King of Masters to go green. Photo courtesy: Larry Marano/Getty Images His gift to himself? Docking his gigantic yacht, Privacy, close to golf courses where he is ready to compete. The has everything Tiger needs to enjoy a comfortable life on the sea and costs the athlete more than $20 million. Imagine what it would be like if the police caught you with an invasion of your superyacht while you were on vacation. Surprisingly, this is exactly what happened to international soccer star Cristiano Ronaldo when he was on his boat, Aya, two years ago. Photo Courtesy: Europa Press Entertainment/Getty Images While traveling to Formentera and Ibiza, Ronaldo was shocked when the authorities cut off his family time on his yacht, costing him about 45,000 euros a week. The police had a reason for the interruption, of course. Ronaldo was being investigated for tax fraud, and he ended up fined 18.8 million euros. If you’re in love with Eric Clapton’s guitar solos, then you might be happy to know he’s making good use of your concert money. In addition to his passion for music, Clapton is an avid sailor, especially when it comes to his superyacht, OK. Photo Courtesy: Anadalou Agency/Getty Images Apparently cost £9 million, Clapton spent a fortune on 156-foot beauty. With 12 beds and 12 family members, Va Bene features karaoke facilities, several dining rooms and a barbecue. If you thought Elon Musk’s 200-foot superyacht was just a celebration, you’d be so wrong. Surprisingly, the yacht of Tesla’s founder, Mr. Steven, was built to help with his rocket recovery project. What makes Mr. Steven so unique is that he casts a special net that can actually capture pieces that fall from his SpaceX rocket launches. Photo Courtesy: Elon Musk: The Real Life Iron Man/IMDb Musk plans to use recycled rocket pieces to rebuild new parts, preventing more waste from entering the system. Environment. Although Musk’s SpaceX program has had its fair share of successes and failures, the billionaire owner of Tesla has nothing to worry about financially. Not many people know what it means to be a successful businessman, celebrity and yacht enthusiast at the same time. Amazingly, Russian billionaire Roman Abramovich is one of those rare people. As a shareholder of Chelsea Football Club, Abramovich spends his spare time entertaining the stars on his fantastic yacht, Eclipse. Photo Courtesy: Picture Alliance/Getty Images Featuring celebrities such as Salma Hayek and Katy Perry, the Eclipse accommodates 24 passengers on its €340 million deck. In addition, it comes with a real missile detection system and a small submarine. With so many features, it’s no wonder Abramovich picked it up. As one of the wealthiest (and most attractive) couples in England, Victoria and David Beckham can certainly afford a break from time to time. Owners of a superyacht worth almost £4 million, it’s not easy for the Beckhams to sail into the sunset with a hat. Photo courtesy of: Horizadachts.com Also known The Sohisticated Lady, the Horizon E88 can accommodate more than 10 people at night. In addition, it has its own on-board gym, which is super convenient for fitness-conscious celebrity guests. Here’s the crazy part. The couple is worth about a billion dollars, even though they’re both retired. Justin Bieber loves to share wealth when it comes to his personal mega yacht, the Ecstasy. In fact, the famous pop star is known for renting her beautiful boat for Hollywood parties and family events. Originally created for Russian billionaire Roman Abramovich, it was sold to an unknown bidder in 2009. Photo Courtesy: Axou/Wikimedia Commons Now, the 282-foot ship is at Bieber’s disposal, complete with a hot tub, gym and Flyboard, not to mention a helicopter coat rack and air conditioning. Apparently, that’s all it takes to attract celebrities like Michelle Rodriguez and Zac Efron. If you’ve ever bought a ticket to a DreamWorks movie, then you’ve contributed to owner David Geffen’s yacht fund. As founder of Geffen and Asylum Records, Geffen had a rather impressive career. He sold Geffen Records to MCA Records for $550 million years ago. Photo Courtesy: Portland Press Herald/Getty Images That money helped buy the Rising Sun, a superyacht that boasts a theatre, gym and spa. Geffen’s huge boat also has its own wine cellar â there is nothing like a stash of wine near a heliport. Thanks to his philanthropic efforts, Bill Gates is no longer the richest man in the world, but that doesn’t mean he can’t still board his private yacht and sail around the globe as he pleases. Incredibly, he once spent $5 million just to rent Serene for a week in 2014. Photo Courtesy: Andrew E. Russell/Flickr At almost 440 feet in length, this megayacht is much bigger than many others on the list. With bedrooms for 24 people, Serene has a saltwater swimming pool, heliport and a coat hanger for helicopters. For those who don’t get tired of Dolce and Gabbana’s clothing, imagine what it’s like to spend a day aboard the duo’s famous ship. Owned by Domenico Dolce and Stefano Gabbana, the Queen of Italy is a show not to be missed. With a slide, a hot tub and a swimming pool, the floating paradise hosted many celebrity parties on its glamorous decks. Photo Courtesy: Mike1979 Russia/Wikimedia Commons Complete with leopard print carpets and marble floors, the ship boasts everything you would expect from the godfathers of design. The ship can accommodate 12 guests for the night, and each room is decorated with a different animal theme, including crocodile, elephant and rhinoceros. Calvin Klein is one of the most renowned and talented designers in the fashion industry, and his huge success is from an abundance of riches. Designed to honor Klein’s chic minimalist look, the Vantage features a warm carpeted interior. To mix it up, the outdoor has amenities such as a barbecue well, bar and and Photo Courtesy: Moranyachts.com Klein hosted his party at the Cannes Film Festival on the sparkling bridge of the Vantage. With nine staff members and 12 guests, the boat also has a private solarium to watch the sunsets. Last but not least, is Sir Philip Green’s superyacht, Lionheart. Worth almost $5 billion, Green has more than enough money to throw around for the pleasures of life, including things like building yachts. He actually built three yachts, of which the Lionheart is the most impressive. Photo Courtesy: Anadolu Agency/Getty Images It’s worth about $150 million and comfortably accommodates at least 12 guests. However, Green has recently been targeted for hosting a big yacht party in Munich after failing with a plan to save his company and its 19,000 employees. Although his retail empire may close, he continues to sail in luxury, clearly not worried about tomorrow.
